

ReduStim

A hands-free body contouring system using BioStimology® bioenergetic field technology combined with controlled micropressure to support body reshaping, skin firmness and cellulite-focused treatments.

Treats: body reshaping, slimming programmes, localised body contouring, cellulite-focused treatments, skin firmness treatments, body drainage/micropressure treatments, waist and circumference-focused programmes, and complementary wellness protocols. The ReduStim system is described in manufacturer-related material as combining a bioenergetic field with controlled micropressure, with the bodysuit covering a large portion of the body — the published ReduStim information describes an integral bodysuit extending from the feet to the solar plexus, with two arm straps used to extend the treatment area.
